Excerpt: ... principles I found myself, at the age of twenty-three, conscientiously poised, without clear sight of a practical plan on which the force put in my hand might descend. I will mention here an incident which I was young enough to regard as of importance. In conversing with Senator Hale I mentioned the fact that in Virginia it was the most scholarly and philosophical young men who discarded old Virginia principles and advocated slavery per se. I was presently appealed to by some of Hale's friends in New Haven to persuade some competent Southerner to deliver in that city a lecture in defence of slavery on moral and sociological grounds. They were willing to pay liberally. The invitation was from antislavery persons, some of them relatives of Mrs. Stowe. I fixed on George Fitzhugh, a lawyer of Port Royal, on the Rappahannock, who had written an able book on "The Failure of Free Society." Through my uncle Judge Eustace Conway, the consent of Fitzhugh was secured, and he declined payment. In New Haven Fitzhugh was a guest of Samuel Foote at "Windy Knowe." The subjoined letter shows the gulf that yawned between the Northern and the Southern mind: -- Port Royal, Va., 12 April, 1855. Dear G. C, -- I am pleased at the interest you take in my book and lecture, and regret you could not accompany me. When I arrived at New Haven I learned that Wendell Phillips was detained in Boston by a suit and could not be in New Haven f^or a week. I postponed my lecture and visited Gerritt Smith at Peterboro' in the mean time. Although my lecture was double the usual length, and a metaphysical and statistical argument instead of an evening's entertainment (as they are used to), it was often applauded, and listened to politely throughout. I remained two days thereafter, and rec...

As a university student exactly feel bored to reading. If their teacher asked them to go to the library as well as to make summary for some publication, they are complained. Just very little students that has reading's spirit or real their pastime. They just do what the professor want, like asked to go to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading critically. Any students feel that examining is not important, boring along with can't see colorful pictures on there. Yeah, it is to become complicated. Book is very important to suit your needs. As we know that on this era, many ways to get whatever you want.
